

Achieving prosperity and opportunity for all in America requires strong, well-maintained public structures. From our public library systems and fair business regulations to our law enforcement agencies, social services and the roads we drive on, these public structures--our government--are the laws, regulations, systems, public programs, and infrastructure we have collectively created and which we must maintain to ensure our future success as a nation. (DEMOS, Public sector project)

We all need strong Public Structures Government systems and programs that serve the common good

Why we value Public Structures

“We understand and appreciate that what breathes life and hope and happiness into our ‘homes’ is the quality of our neighborhoods, jobs, schools, parks, services, medical care, and transportation.”

Wisconsin Realtors Association

